Family

Hannah Bramley has considerable experience in serious and complex children's cases.

She came to us in 2017, having previously worked both in private practice and as an in-house solicitor for local authorities for eight years, conducting her own advocacy throughout. She transferred to the Bar in order to focus full-time on her advocacy in a specialism that she cares deeply about.

Hannah is instructed on behalf of local authorities, parents and guardians. She has experience in the most complex cases, including non-accidental injury, sexual abuse, the emotional abuse of children, and neglect.

She has a wide range of experience in all types of private law proceedings and undertakes work in cases involving domestic abuse and Family Law Act injunctions, child arrangement orders, and Rule 16.4 appointments. She has undertaken a number of forced-marriage protection order applications.

Further information

How much will Hannah Bramley's services cost?

Hannah mostly works on a fixed-fee basis for the main hearing, with a daily refresher rate for any subsequent date of hearing, although this depends on the type of work you request. If you'd like a quotation for her legal services in a particular matter, please contact our clerk using the details below and we'll be very happy to help. Please also refer to Bank House Chambers' standard terms & conditions.

What might influence the timescales of the services Hannah offers?

Hannah would normally expect to arrange a preliminary conference with your client within 7 days of first contact from you. After that, despite our best intentions, we can't always control timescales or the amount of time we spend on a case. These can be affected by factors such as urgency; complexity; your own (or your client's) availability; Hannah's availability and that of any third parties; the volume of documents she needs to review or must request; and the court's availability.

Can you have confidence in Hannah's work?
